

go to site ●●●

Sponsored Link: London Calling

Before designer ROSARIA LAMANNA moves to the UK, don't miss the incredible last-chance sale on clothing (SZ 2-12), home décor fabric, studio furniture and equipment. Oct 26 & 27 from 10am-8pm and Oct 28 & 29 from 10am-5pm at 15 Adrian Ave, Suite 178. Click for a preview, call for details: 416.944.1730.

BOO! Print this ad to receive 15% off Halloween costumes does not include confectionery • 2047 Avenue Road location only

s.w.e.e.t.s.p.o.t.ca toronto

Bosom Buddy

All of us have a favourite bra that comes with us wherever we go. And these days most of us fancy the padded or, rather, voluptuously shaped boulder holders that give us the perfect silhouette (not to mention size and lift). But these coveted gems can take a beating when they're constantly being shoved into suitcases and drawers. And let's face it, a squashed and dimpled padded bra is as useful as crotchless panties in tight jeans.

But now, thanks to a brand new product out of Vancouver, your best brassieres can maintain their original shape, no matter how many suitcases they see the inside of. The bra\(g\) is an adorable protective case, available in three different styles (it also makes a saucy purse in a pinch) that can hold up to six bras (up to C and D cups, depending on the make of the bra). We love that it's travel friendly and looks great in our dresser drawer, bringing a boudoir-like element to an otherwise not-so-sexy sea of socks and undies.

For around $70, keeping your intimates in top form doesn't exactly come cheap, but it's a small price to pay to protect some of your best assets.

bra(g)
www.bra-g.com

(Canadian retailers listed online)